The History and Family Emblem

In 1774 Andreas Lechner, of Oberföhring, married into the estate. Ever since, the estate has been in the family's possession although the gastronomical and industrial sections have been run separately for the last decades. The farm gets its name, "Done (Toni)-Wirtshof", from a family tradition going back to the 2nd generation when and ever since the eldest son and heir to the estate has been named Anton. We are now in the 7th generation.

In the top left hand corner of the emblem the Isar river is portrayed representing the steep banks of which the estate is built on. In the bottom right hand corner one can appreciate a plough representing the 700 year old farm.

The lily is the symbol of St. Antonius of Padua, the family's patron name.

The crowned "Freisinger Mohr" on top of the emblem reminds us of the 600 year rule of the Hochstift Freising over Unterföhring.
